STEVEN COVEY SEVEN HABITS

Habit 6: Synergize

Synergizing is a great way to get a task done! Synergizing is working together for a common goal. When people synergize they can complete amazing tasks.

Teaching students not only how to work well independently but also as a group or with a partner is a great life skill that will help them in any situation. Now, in grade school and later when they are Employed, being able to work with others is a skill that many look for in a person. Synergizing also means that we are listening to each other for ideas and suggestions as well. Just think of all the amazing ideas that a whole group of people can come up with instead of just one. Synergizing also means that we are respectful of one another as well. No one wants to work with someone who is not respectful. Some ways that you can practice synergizing with your family at home is maybe raking the leaves together or building a bird house this spring.
